

2008-2009 ANES Panel Study Questionnaires
American National Election Studies
August 2010

This document contains the questionnaire programming specifications for the ANES-sponsored questionnaires from the 2008-2009 ANES Panel Study: January, February, June, September, October, and November 2008 and January, May, July, and August 2009 are included. Some questions from January and August 2009 were not sponsored by ANES and these non-ANES questions are shaded in gray to distinguish them from ANES-sponsored content.

These questionnaires were administered entirely over the Internet. The document also contains the specifications for the recruitment questionnaire (administered primarily over the telephone, but which also existed in an Internet version) and the Internet profile survey.

Questionnaires from other waves of the survey (in March, April, May, July, August, and December 2008 and February, March, April, June, and September 2009) were not sponsored by ANES. Those questionnaires are part of the supplemental data package for the study.

1. How to Read the Questionnaires

ANES questions are organized into sections, such as A, B, C, etc. Within sections, questions are numbered sequentially, such as A1, A2, etc. These question numbers appear in brackets to the left of the question, such as item E2 below.

[E2] Do you like the Democratic Party, dislike it, or neither like nor dislike it?
___ Like [1]
___ Dislike [2]

___ Neither like nor dislike [3]

Variable names on the data file are based on these alphanumeric question codes, preceded by the letter W and the number of the wave on which the questionnaire appeared. Waves are numbered consecutively beginning with Wave 1 for the January 2008 survey. Thus the variable name for item E2 on the January survey is W1E2.

Text within brackets is used for programming instructions and was not displayed to respondents.

Bracketed programming instructions appear on the lines above each question. Unless otherwise noted, a question was asked of everyone. When an “IF” condition is specified, the question was asked of respondents who meet the specified condition. For example, in the January questionnaire, item A1 was asked [IF GE 18 YEARS OLD ON 20041102]. This means that the respondent was asked this question if the respondent was greater than or equal to 18 years old on November 2, 2004. Other questions were asked only if a certain answer was given to a prior question. For example, in the January questionnaire, item A5 was asked [IF A4=6]. This means that if a respondent chose the answer coded 6 at question A4, that respondent was asked question A5, and if the respondent chose any other answer at A4, that respondent skipped A5.

Questions marked [SP] allow one answer (“single punch”). Questions marked [MP] (for “multi-punch”) are allowed multiple answers. Items marked [DISPLAY] are screens that display instructions and do not collect data. Items marked [TEXT BOX] allow the respondent to type a string of text as an answer.

Parentheses () are used to document dynamic fills within the text that is displayed to a respondent. This includes forward and reverse ordering of question options, filling appropriate pronouns “he” or “she” or “it” when making references, and similar applications.

For many questions, respondents are randomly assigned to have response options in either forward or reverse order. An example of such an item is shown below, with “forward” and “reverse” response options separated by a slash within the parentheses.

[SP]
[K1] How interested are you in information about what’s going on in government and politics? (Extremely interested, very interested, moderately interested, slightly interested, or not interested at all? / Not interested at all, slightly interested, moderately interested, very interested, or extremely interested?)
___ Extremely interested [1]
___ Very interested [2]
___ Moderately interested [3]
___ Slightly interested [4]
___ Not interested at all [5]

For questions like this, respondents assigned to forward order would have seen the order displayed like this:

How interested are you in information about what's going on in government and politics? Extremely interested, very interested, moderately interested, slightly interested, or not interested at all?

- Extremely interested
- Very interested
- Moderately interested
- Slightly interested
- Not interested at all

And respondents assigned reverse order would have seen it like this:

How interested are you in information about what's going on in government and politics? Not interested at all, slightly interested, moderately interested, very interested, or extremely interested?

- Not interested at all
- Slightly interested
- Moderately interested
- Very interested
- Extremely interested

Note that codes were always recorded the same way regardless of response order. "Extremely interested" is always coded 1, whether it was displayed first or last.

Nonresponse Note

Most ANES Panel questions did not include a "Don't know" response choice, and none included a "Refused" response choice. Instead, respondents could simply skip any questions they did not wish to answer by clicking Next without answering the question.

However, for every question which the respondent failed to answer, the question was re-displayed once with the following text prominently displayed above it:

We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click "Next."

Recruitment and Profile Surveys

The recruitment and profile survey specifications use a somewhat different format and different variable/item naming convention than the ANES surveys because they are based on the standard procedures of the data collection firm, Knowledge Networks. In these surveys, respondents were asked to provide background information including their address, birth date, sex, race, ethnicity, marital status, household income, home ownership status, employment status, ability to read and speak English, highest level of education, number of telephone landlines in the home, and interest in computers, sports, and politics.

Other Documentation of Questionnaire Content

The Methodology Report and User's Guide for the 2008-2009 ANES Panel Study, available in PDF format on the ANES web site, includes two tables that summarize the topics covered on the ANES questionnaires, as well as an appendix that shows which waves of the study included specific questions. For users seeking an overview of study content, these resources are a useful complement to browsing the questionnaires themselves.

Questionnaires from non-ANES waves of the survey (in March, April, May, July, August, and December 2008 and February, March, April, June, and September 2009) were not sponsored by ANES. These questionnaires are in a separate supplemental document.

2. Wave 1 (January) questionnaire

ANES Wave 1 Questionnaire - January 2008 -

- Please create one forward/backward preload variable for each R to receive selected scale response options forward or backward. This preload variable controls the order for the response options (and, where applicable, the description of the response options in the question stem) for following items: A8; section E items 3, 4, 6, 7, 9, 10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 18, 19, 21, 22, 24, 25, 27, 28, 30, 31, 33, 34, 36, 37, 39, 40, 42, 43, 45, 46, 48, 49, 51, 52, 54, 55, 57, 58, 60, 61; section F items 2, 4, 6, 8; K1; L1, L2; section P items 2, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 14, 15, 17, 18, 20, 21, 23, 24, 26, 27; section Q items 1, 2, 3, 4; section T entirely; section V entirely; section W entirely. When response options are included in the stem, the alternative fills are noted on the questionnaire below and must match the order of the options presented below according to the forward/backward preload. When the forward/backward changes affect only the response options themselves (not in the question stem), there is no notation except here in this note. For Rs assigned to forward, present options in the order shown in the specs. For those assigned backward, reverse the order. Regardless of order, use the same codes, e.g. a response of “a great deal” is coded 1 whether it is first or last.
- Create preload variables to determine all randomization assignments (including fills as well as question order). We need to be able to repeat exactly the same question sequence and wording to the same respondents on a later wave.
- Nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you’re not completely sure. But if you’d prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- We need to be able to modify the lists of candidate names in late December by dropping or perhaps adding candidates in response to late campaign developments.

[A1] The next few questions are about the presidential election that was held in 2004.

In asking people about elections, we often find that a lot of people were not able to vote because they weren't registered, they were sick, they didn't have time, or something else happened to prevent them from voting.

And sometimes, people who usually vote or who planned to vote forget that something unusual happened on Election Day one year that prevented them from voting that time. So please think carefully for a minute about the election held in November 2004, and other past elections in which you may have voted, and answer the following questions about your voting behavior.

ANES Wave 2 Questionnaire
- February 2008 -

ANES 2008-09 Panel Study
Wave 2 Questionnaire: February 2008
Version 20071115

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- Please name all item variables with “w2” (for wave 2) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item B2 should be in a variable named w2B2. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don’t know (when it’s an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in the January wave.
- Randomize forward or backward response options for response options in the stem and in the response list for all items with stems with parenthetical alternatives showing forward and backward orders. Each R either gets forward or backward order on all reversible items on all waves of the study. In addition to the items noted as having reversible response orders by parenthetical alternatives, the following items also have their response options reversible: F4, F6, F8.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you’re not completely sure. But if you’d prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- We need to be able to modify the lists of candidate names by dropping or perhaps adding candidates in response to late campaign developments.

Welcome to the February survey for the [STUDY NAME REDACTED]!

Thank you for participating in this important research with us.

This month, you will see some of the same questions that you answered for us last month. The reason for this is that a lot has happened in the country in recent weeks, so we are interested in seeing what people think today on some of the same issues.

Please answer these questions by telling us how you feel today.

During the coming months, the questions we ask you will be on many different topics.

And we will send you $10 for each survey that you complete as a way to express our thanks.

[AB1] The next few questions are about the presidential election that was held in 2004.

In asking people about elections, we often find that a lot of people were not able to vote because they weren't registered, they were sick, they didn't have time, or something else happened to prevent them from voting.

And sometimes, people who usually vote or who planned to vote forget that something unusual happened on Election Day one year that prevented them from voting that time. So please think carefully for a minute about the election held in November 2004, and other past elections in which you may have voted, and answer the following questions about your voting behavior.

[SP]

[IF GE 18 YEARS OLD ON 20041102 AND XW1A2 IS MISSING]

- [AB2] During the past 6 years, did you usually vote in national, state, and local elections, or did you usually not vote?
- Usually voted [1]
- Usually did not vote [2]

[SP]

[IF GE 18 YEARS OLD ON 20041102 AND XW1A2 IS MISSING]

- [AB3] In the election held in November 2004, John Kerry ran on the Democratic ticket against George W. Bush the Republican.

During the months leading up to the election for President in 2004, did you ever plan to vote in that election, or didn't you plan to do that?

- Did plan to vote [1]
- Did not plan to vote [2]

[SP]

[IF GE 18 YEARS OLD ON 20041102 AND XW1A2 IS MISSING]

- [AB4] Which one of the following best describes what you did in that election in 2004?

- Definitely did not vote [1]
- Definitely voted in person at a polling place on election day [2]
- Definitely voted in person at a polling place before election day [3]
- Definitely voted by mailing a ballot to elections officials before election day [4]
- Definitely voted in some other way [5]
- Not completely sure whether you voted or not [6]

ANES Wave 6 Questionnaire
- June 2008 -

ANES 2008-09 Panel Study
Wave 6 Questionnaire: June 2008
Version 20090121

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- Please name all item variables with “w6” (for wave 6) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item B2 should be in a variable named w6B2. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don't know (when it's an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in the January & February waves.
- Randomize forward or backward response options for response options in the stem and in the response list for all items with stems with parenthetical alternatives showing forward and backward orders. Randomize once and record the order; each R gets the same forward or backward order on all reversible items on all waves of the study, so for all Rs who have completed a prior wave, copy the forward/backward order assignment from the prior wave. For Rs who have not completed a prior wave, make the assignment now and record it.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- We need to be able to modify the lists of candidate names by dropping or perhaps adding candidates in response to late campaign developments.

[AB1] The next few questions are about the presidential election that was held in 2004.

In asking people about elections, we often find that a lot of people were not able to vote because they weren't registered, they were sick, they didn't have time, or something else happened to prevent them from voting.

And sometimes, people who usually vote or who planned to vote forget that something unusual happened on Election Day one year that prevented them from voting that time. So please think carefully for a minute about the election held in November 2004, and other past elections in which you may have voted, and answer the following questions about your voting behavior.

[SP]

[IF GE 18 YEARS OLD ON 20041102 AND XWAVE1=2 AND XWAVE2=2]

5. Wave 9 (September) questionnaire

ANES Wave 9 Questionnaire - Sept 2008 -

ANES Panel Study Wave 9 (September 2008) Questionnaire Version 20090126

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- Please name all item variables with “w9” (for wave 9) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item B2 should be in a variable named w9B2. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don't know (when it's an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in the January & February & June waves.
- Randomize forward or backward response options for response options in the stem and in the response list for all items with stems with parenthetical alternatives showing forward and backward orders. Randomize once and record the order; each R gets the same forward or backward order on all reversible items on all waves of the study, so for all Rs who have completed a prior wave, copy the forward/backward order assignment from the prior wave. For Rs who have not completed a prior wave, make the assignment now and record it.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- Preloads:
 - XDOB: R's date of birth.
 - XWAVE1: did R complete wave 1
 - XWAVE2: did R complete wave 2
 - XWAVE6: did R complete wave 6
 - XPRTURN: was R asked primary turnout or not
 - W9COUNTY: current county
 - W9HOMEST: current state

- W9REGST: current state of voter registration
- XPRIMARY: 1 = R's state has caucus, 2=primary, 3=both
- XDATE: is R's state a one-date state or a two-date state
- XPRIMDATE: date of primary/caucus in R's state

[ZE. AMP]Affect Misattribution Procedure (AMP) Programming Specifications

The AMP has six parts.

PART 1. First instruction page.

PART 2. 4 single symbol trials that display a picture and wait for input.

PART 3. Second instruction page.

PART 4. Third instruction page.

PART 5. Fourth instruction page.

PART 6. 48 trials, each showing a “Look Here” alert followed by a stimulus picture for 75 milliseconds, a symbol picture for 250 milliseconds, and a static mask picture while awaiting respondent input.

PART 7. Final sequence.

We will be administering two versions of AMP. One displays photos of John McCain and Barack Obama. The other displays faces of black and white people who are not famous. In September, randomly assign each respondent to receive 1) the black-white set or 2) the candidate set, and record the assignment. In October, assign each respondent to the set to which he or she was not assigned in September. Record item timings on each response.

To randomize the images of the Chinese characters, take 48 random draws without replacement from among the 71. That is, choose image 1 by selecting one at random from the 71, and choose image 2 by choosing one at random from among the remaining 70, etc. until we have 48 images to display in part 5. Repeat that process independently for each respondent. Record the images selected for each respondent; a variable should indicate what Chinese character was shown as image 1; another should indicate what character was shown for image 2, etc.

For the black and white faces, we show each one twice with the order randomized. So we would start with two copies of each image, making 48, and then simply shuffle them (that is, randomize the order of the set in which each image appears twice) for each respondent.

For Obama-McCain pictures, we show each one of the 8 pictures three times with the order randomized. So we would start with three copies of each image, making 48, and then simply shuffle them for each respondent.

AMP PART 1. FIRST INSTRUCTION PAGE.

[Display the following text on screen.]

Next, we'll ask you about how much you like some drawings that we'll show you.

Each drawing is of a letter from the Chinese alphabet.

We'll show you four drawings, one at a time.

When you see each one, please push the "P" key if you think the drawing is pleasant and the "Q" key if it is unpleasant.

Please try not to say the same thing about every drawing - we're interested in knowing which ones you think are pleasant and which you think are unpleasant.

If you have a slow connection to the Internet, it may take a couple of minutes before you see anything. We would be grateful if you would be patient while this happens.

When you're ready to begin, press the "P" key."

AMP PART 2. 4 SINGLE-SYMBOL TRIALS.

[Randomly select a symbol and display it as a static image in the center of the screen. In the lower left corner, display the instruction, “Less Pleasant press Q” and in the lower right corner display “More Pleasant press P”.]

[Repeat four times, changing the symbol each time.]

AMP PART 3. SECOND INSTRUCTION PAGE.

Great. Now the task will be a little trickier.

Next, we'll show you more drawings, one at a time.

Push the "P" key if you think the drawing is more pleasant than average and the "Q" key if it is less pleasant than average.

But this time, you'll see a quick flash of a person's face before you see each drawing.

After the flash of the face, the drawing will appear for only a second, and then the screen will turn gray.

So, watch the screen carefully so you can see each drawing and decide whether it's more pleasant than the average drawing or less pleasant than the average drawing.

Please press the "P" key to continue.

AMP PART 4.

Please try not to pay any attention to the face or the gray screen. Try not to let the face influence your judgment of the drawing.

Just tell us whether you think each drawing is more pleasant than average or less pleasant than average.

After you go to the next screen, please focus your eyes right away above the words, so you see the first picture when it appears there.

Then, each time you press a key, look at the gray square right away, so you can see the next drawing.

As there may be a delay as the pictures load, please keep your attention on the middle of the screen at all times.

When you're ready to begin, press the "P" key.

AMP PART 5.

Please try not to pay any attention to the human face or the gray screen. Try not to let the face influence your judgment of the drawing.

Just tell us whether you thought each drawing was more or less pleasant than average.

Even if you don't get a long look at a drawing, just do your best to indicate whether you thought it was more or less pleasant.

After you go to the next screen, please focus your eyes right away above the words, so that you see the first picture when it appears there.

Then, each time you press a key, look at the gray square right away, so that you can see the next drawing.

As there may be a delay as the pictures load, please keep your attention on the gray square at all times.

When you're ready to begin, press the "P" key.

AMP PART 6. 48 FULL TRIALS

[Each trial has the following features:

First, display a static image with the prompt "Press P to Begin". The screen looks as shown below.

Second, display the "Look here" alert for 2 seconds the first time it appears and for 500 milliseconds second each subsequent time. During this time, the screen looks as shown below.

Third, display a randomly selected face picture for 75 milliseconds. During this time, the screen looks as shown below (with an example face).

Fourth, display a randomly selected symbol picture for the next 250 milliseconds. During this time, the screen looks as shown below (with an example symbol).

Fifth, display the static mask picture and await respondent input. During this time, the screen appears as below.

On each screen, display the “Less Pleasant press Q” and “More Pleasant press P” instructions in the lower left and right corners, respectively.

AMP PART 7. FINAL SEQUENCE.

6. Wave 10 (October) questionnaire

ANES Wave 10 Questionnaire - Sept 2008 -

ANES Panel Study Wave 10 (October 2008) Questionnaire

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- Please name all item variables with “w10” (for wave 10) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item A2 should be in a variable named w10A2. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don't know (when it's an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in the January & February & June & September waves.
- Randomize forward or backward response options for response options in the stem and in the response list for all items with stems with parenthetical alternatives showing forward and backward orders. Randomize once and record the order; each R gets the same forward or backward order on all reversible items on all waves of the study, so for all Rs who have completed a prior wave, copy the forward/backward order assignment from the prior wave. For Rs who have not completed a prior wave, make the assignment now and record it.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- Preloads:
 - XDOB: R's date of birth.
 - XWAVE1: did R complete wave 1
 - XWAVE2: did R complete wave 2
 - XWAVE6: did R complete wave 6
 - XWAVE9: did R complete wave 9
 - XPRTURN: did R vote in primary
 - W9COUNTY: current county
 - W9HOMEST: current state

- W9REGST: current state of voter registration
- XDATE: is R's state a one-date state or a two-date state
- XPRIMDATE: date of primary/caucus in R's state
- XCOHORT: is R part of the first recruitment cohort or the second
- XICT: randomization variable for Item Count Technique items

- XGENDER: R is male (1) or female (2)

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- Please name all item variables with “w11” (for wave 11) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item A2 should be in a variable named w11A2. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don't know (when it's an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in the January & February & June & September & October waves.
- Randomize forward or backward response options for response options in the stem and in the response list for all items with stems with parenthetical alternatives showing forward and backward orders. Randomize once and record the order; each R gets the same forward or backward order on all reversible items on all waves of the study, so for all Rs who have completed a prior wave, copy the forward/backward order assignment from the prior wave. For Rs who have not completed a prior wave, make the assignment now and record it.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click "Next."

[WELCOME1] Welcome to the November survey for the [STUDY NAME REDACTED].

This month, you will see questions that you have answered for us before. We are asking some questions again because we would like to know what you think about some of these same issues today.

During the coming months, we will continue to ask questions on many different topics. Now that the election is over, our upcoming surveys will be about many other topics.

Please answer these questions by telling us how you feel today. Your answers today are just as important as your answers were last month.

Thank you for continuing to participate in this important research with us.

[A. Vote: 08 turnout, choice, and timing]

[A1] The next few questions are about the presidential election that was held on November 4.

In asking people about elections, we often find that a lot of people were not able to vote because they weren't registered, they were sick, they didn't have time, or something else happened to prevent them from voting.

And sometimes, people who usually vote or who planned to vote forget that something unusual happened on Election Day one year that prevented them from voting that time. So please think carefully for a minute about the election held on November 4, and other past elections in which you may have voted, and answer the following questions about your voting behavior.

[SP]

[A2] During the past 6 years, did you usually vote in national, state, and local elections, or did you usually not vote?

- Usually voted [1]
- Usually did not vote [2]

In the election held on November 4, Barack Obama ran on the Democratic ticket and John McCain ran on the Republican ticket.

During the months leading up to the election for President, did you ever plan to vote in that election, or didn't you plan to do that?

- Did plan to vote [1]

- Definitely did not vote [1]
 Definitely voted in person at a polling place on election day [2]

The tag that begins a section called "question" looks like this: <question>. The tag that ends a section has a slash at the beginning of the word: </question>. Questions shown to computer-using respondents are tagged "question" and questions shown to MSNTV-2-using respondents are tagged "msntvquestion". Response options with tags b1, b2, b3, etc., used buttons. Response options with tags bar1, bar2, etc., used movable vertical bars that the respondent could drag up or down. Questions are marked with boldface item/variable names in square brackets, such as [Z3]. Data for bar questions are saved in variables with the item number and the bar number, such as W13Z3_bar2, for wave 13, item Z3, bar 2. Data indicate the height of the bar from 0 to 100.]

9. Wave 17 (May 2009) questionnaire

ANES Wave 17 Pretest Questionnaire - May 2009 -

ANES Panel Study Wave 17 (May 2009) Questionnaire

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- All questions on this wave were run on prior waves, but some have had wording edits, such as changing reference periods from the past four years to since January 2009.
- Questions in struck out text (~~like this~~) should not be asked. They are present only to clarify selected deletions from sections that were run previously.
- Please name all item variables with “w17” (for wave 17) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item D11 should be in a variable named w17D11. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don't know (when it's an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in prior ANES waves.
- Assign forward or backward response options as assigned on prior waves.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you're not completely sure. But if you'd prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- Preloads:
 - XHHCOMP: number of people living in R's household.

10. Wave 19 (July 2009) questionnaire

ANES Panel Study Wave 19 (July 2009) Questionnaire

PROGRAMMING NOTES:

- All questions on this wave were run on prior waves, but some have had wording edits, such as changing reference periods from “the past four years” to “since January 2009”.
- Please name all item variables with “w19” (for wave 19) prepended to the item name. E.g. the response to the item E11 should be in a variable named w19E11. In the rare cases where the item has more than one variable, add numbered suffixes following an underscore such as _1 and _2.
- Codes for response options are indicated in brackets. These are not displayed to the respondent.
- Nonresponse codes are as follows: -1: inapplicable, legitimate skip; -2: error flag; -7: no answer; -9: don’t know (when it’s an option).
- Use the same respondent-level randomizations that were used in prior ANES waves.
- Assign forward or backward response options as assigned on prior waves.
- Unless otherwise noted for a specific item, nonresponse should be handled as follows: For every item to which the R fails to respond, re-display the item once with the following text above it: We noticed that you did not answer the question below. We would be very grateful if you would be willing to provide your best answer, even if you’re not completely sure. But if you’d prefer to skip this question, you can click “Next.”
- Timing: Record item timings.
- Preloads:
 - XSTATE (respondent’s state of residence).

Hello, I'm Michael Dennis, the Knowledge Networks manager for the [STUDY NAME REDACTED]. I'd like to personally welcome you to your first online survey. It will take about 15 minutes, and we will send you $10 to thank you for completing it.

In the coming months, surveys will ask your opinions on a wide variety of interesting topics. Your answers are important. They may affect what journalists report in the news, how the government spends money, what products and services businesses sell, and how scientists and other researchers understand subjects like public health, the nation's economy, and other topics.

- Extremely difficult..... 1
- Very difficult2

For instance, in March we might ask how much television you watch, and in April we might ask the question again. We won't repeat very many questions, but we will repeat a few.

TELEPHONE RECRUITMENT QUESTIONNAIRE

NOVEMBER 6, 2007

KEY DIFFERENCES FROM PRIOR VERSION:

- ◆ Revised closing script text for Internet households to indicate that their first survey would be arriving in about a week, rather than in 3-4 days.

NOTES ABOUT THE FORMAT:

- ◆ Phone, Letter, Respondent and Samtag are variables included in the sample file. Phone is a 10 digit numeric field (no dashes), Letter=1 indicates the hh was sent a letter, Letter=0 indicates no letter; 'Respondent' indicates whether a contact name has been obtained previously and only applies to Samtag=2 (LARS) sample and 'Samtag' refers to the type of sample. (Samtag=1 RDD; Samtag=2-Lars; Samtag=3-Cell phone; Respondent is either blank or not blank).
- ◆ RED highlights the question labels and is what is displayed on the interviewing screen.
- ◆ Text in <brackets> indicates data provided in the sample file, and text in (parentheses) are system generated.

(PHONE= pass through from sample file)

(LETTER= pass through from sample file and should be either 1 or 0; Letter=1 indicates the hh was sent a letter, Letter=0 indicates no letter)
