Please turn to page ^postpg_c of the booklet.

I'd like to get your feelings toward some of our political leaders and other people who are in the news these days. I'll read the name of a person and I'd like you to rate that person using something we call the feeling thermometer.

Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean that you feel favorable and warm toward the person. Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean that you don't feel favorable toward the person and that you don't care too much for that person. You would rate the person at the 50 degree mark if you don't feel particularly warm or cold toward the person.

If we come to a person whose name you don't recognize, you don't need to rate that person. Just tell me and we'll move on to the next one.

WEB SPEC: Online, in this section, do not use the standard nonresponse prompt; just move on to the next question.

Omit the reference to the Respondent booklet.

Also, use the following question text:

'Please look at the graphic below.

ITEM LABEL: CASI - POST: STEREOTYPE HARDWORKING INTRO

Now we have some questions about different groups in our society.

We're going to show you a seven-point scale on which the characteristics of the people in a group can be rated.

In the first statement a score of '1' means that you think almost all of the people in that group tend to be 'hard-working.' A score of '7' means that you think most people in the group are 'lazy.'

A score of '4' means that you think that most people in the group are not closer to one end or the other, and of course, you may choose any number in between.

WEB SPEC: Online, change 'I' to 'we' (one instance) and change 'I'm' to 'We are' (one instance).

IF R DID NOT LOG INTO FACEBOOK:

We understand it is your choice not to share information about how you've used Facebook.

Would you be willing to reconsider? To get an accurate picture of how all Americans use -- or do not use -- Facebook, we need to include you.

Any information you do share through Facebook would be stored separately from the rest of your survey responses. We would use the information to look at things like how many news stories about the presidential election appeared in people's Facebook feeds, and how many posts with references to political candidates they liked, and other general descriptions of Facebook feeds and profiles. And we would keep the information confidential.

If you will log into Facebook, below, you can tell Facebook what information you are willing to give to Stanford University and the University of Michigan, or you can decide not to share anything.

Need to Evaluate

There are six Need to Evaluate (NTE) questions on the post-election questionnaire. Each respondent was asked four of these questions. On the questionnaire, the items are labeled COG_NTE1, 3, 9, 10, 11, and 12. Item #10 was asked first, of everyone. Of the remaining five questions available, each respondent was asked three, according to the rules shown in the lookup table.

The lookup table shows which item to ask next for all possible combinations of responses for the NTE items. For example, row 1 of the lookup table describes the condition that if items NTE1, 3, 9, 10, 11 and 12 have all been “not asked,” then item NTE10 should be asked next. Row 2 shows that if item NTE10 is asked but no answer is given, and none of the other questions have been asked, the next item to be asked will be NTE3. Other rows in the lookup table exhaustively describe the rules for determining the next item asked.
