

ANES 2022 Social Media Study
Questionnaire Specification
Version 20221024

Fielding & Sample specifications

- Dates: data collection should begin Wednesday, November 9 (unless temporarily delayed)
- Eligibility: participants must have completed the ANES 2020 Social Media Study post-election questionnaire

Programming specifications

- Use the same general specifications as ANES 2020 Social Media Study pre-election questionnaire.
- Many items are identical to items from the pre-election questionnaire. Please distinguish all variables from this post-election questionnaire by adding a prefix w3 to all variable names, as shown.
- If programming specifications refer to an item with a w1 prefix, this refers to the 2020 pre-election data (wave 1); w2 prefix refers to the post-election data (wave 2).
- For randomization with “previously generated” randomization variables, re-use the randomization preloads from the pre-election (w1) questionnaire.

[PANEL START]

[DISPLAY ONLY]

Thank you for agreeing to participate in our new [Panel Name] survey!

This survey is about your opinions on a variety of topics including how things are going in the country these days.

To thank you for sharing your opinions, we will give you a reward of [panel brand name points] after completing the survey. As always, your answers are confidential.

This survey contains some questions you may have seen before, because we want to learn what you think today.

Please use the “Continue” button to move forward within the questionnaire. Do not use your browser buttons.

This research study is sponsored by Stanford University and funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation. Participation is voluntary. You may decline to answer any questions you do not want to answer and you may withdraw or discontinue participation at any point. The survey usually takes about 30 minutes. Your answers will be combined with other participants’ answers to make a data file that will be shared with other researchers and used for future research. Your individual privacy will be maintained in all published and written data resulting from the study. No part of the study involves risks or benefits to you, except for the [Panel Name] points you will receive after completing the survey.

If you have any questions or comments about this research you may contact Dr. Matthew DeBell at debell@stanford.edu or 650-725-2239.

If you have any questions about your participation in the [Panel Name] panel or about your incentive, please contact [panel support email] or call [888 phone number]. If you are not satisfied with how this study is being conducted, or if you have any concerns, complaints, or general questions about the research or your rights as a participant, please contact the Stanford Institutional Review Board (IRB) to speak to someone independent of the research team at 650-723-2480 or email at irbnonmed@stanford.edu. You can also write to the Research Compliance Office, Stanford University, 1705 El Camino Real, Palo Alto, CA 94306.

- Do not have a Facebook account [3]

[FACEBOOK CONSENT]

[IF w3fbuser=1 or w3fbuser=2]

[DISPLAY]

[w3fbconsent1] This is a voluntary research study of how people use Facebook to learn about current events.

We – Stanford University – are asking for your actual usage data, which Facebook can give us directly. Your actual usage data gives the most accurate information.

Of course, we will keep this data confidential, just like everything else you tell us.

The next screen will tell you more about this study and ask if you agree.

[IF w3fbuser=1 or w3fbuser=2]

[DISPLAY]

[w3fbconsent2]

If you allow Facebook to share some information with us, researchers will be able to study political ads, posts, and links you see on Facebook this year, and how you respond to them.

With your consent, this is the specific information we would like to get about your Facebook experience:

- How often you use Facebook.
- The text of any posts you make that name President Biden or former President Trump.
- The political ads sent to you from Congressional candidates in the 2022 election, their parties, and interest groups involved in the 2022 election, and any actions you took with the ads, like sharing, commenting, or liking.
- Web links (called URLs) in your news feed and actions you took with the links, like sharing, commenting, or liking.
- Advertisements you were shown and actions you took with the ads, if any.

With your consent, Facebook will securely provide this information to us. It will share the information from January 1 through November 8, 2022. After that, this Facebook information will be stored confidentially for future research.

[PANEL] will not tell Facebook anything about you, except that you are in this study. Facebook will not share your name with [PANEL], but will instead create an identification number that it will use instead of your name in all of the posts they send us.

The information you share with [PANEL] will be handled in accordance with the [PANEL] privacy policy here: [LINK].

Sharing Facebook information is voluntary. If you agree, we will connect you to Facebook to confirm your consent. Then you will resume this survey. Your consent (or decision not to consent) will not affect your experience with Facebook products, which remain subject to Facebook’s Data Policy. It will not affect your [PANEL] account either.

If you do not agree, we will not learn as much about the political ads and news you see on Facebook, and we may ask more questions to account for this.

Do you agree to share this information?

- Yes, I agree to allow Facebook to share this information [1]
- No, I do not agree [2]

[FOLLOWUP]

[FEELING THERMOMETERS]

[DISPLAY]

[w3ftintro] We'd like to get your feelings toward people who are in the news these days. We'll show the name of a person or group and we'd like you to rate that person or group between 0 and 100.

Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean you feel favorable toward the person. Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean you feel unfavorable toward the person. A rating of 50 means you don't feel particularly favorably or unfavorably toward the person.

Throughout this survey, you will see survey questions using this thermometer. For practice, please click on the thermometer below. You may click and drag to precisely adjust the thermometer rating.
